Photoshop 2021 (Version 22.3) Crack+

Q: my javascript doesn't work with my jquery I am using my bitrix project and I have a form element with a select menu which its id is cbChkNewCourse. I am having this script in the onclick: `$(document).ready(function() { $('#cbChkNewCourse').click(function(){ // if it was triggered by my code alert('hi'); // if it was triggered by submit alert('Clicked'); }); });` My question is why won't this code work? I tried putting it in a else if condition and it still didn't work. Thanks. A: `$('#cbChkNewCourse')` is a jQuery selector, that means that it searches for a "selector" match in the page. As such, it won't be a match when you use your document.ready function. Even if it were, the document.ready function is asynchronous. Meaning that it may already be run before your event handler is run. To fix it, bind it to the document element: `$(document).ready(function() { $('#cbChkNewCourse').click(function(){ alert('hi'); alert('Clicked'); }); });` Pierre Mercier Pierre Mercier (born September 27, 1940) is a former Canadian politician who was a member of the Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick for the electoral district of Saint John County South.
